Barque "Marion."

There can be no doubt regarding the Siamese barque Marion, having been pirated by Captain Fargerstrom, and the man

Fischer who left this port under pecuniary difficulties. About the end of July, Fischer was seen changing Manila gold in Hongkong and heard to say the Captain would be in part shortly as the vessel had touched at several ports off the Munilla coast and had sold a portion of her cargo. Fischer went on board a Steamer which runs

THE spars space in this issue is devoted our London and Paris letters, and to the head of intelligence from the London Spectator. That talented Journal has a singular ware on the subject of American affairs. It seems to us certain that General Lee has left General Grant to waste his strength against strong entrenchments and powerful works, whilst ho himself with the main body of the army, undertakes the invasion of Maryland and Penn sylvania. The two belligerent armies are so nearly equal in strength, that it seems to absolute rashness in Grant attacking Lee behind strong fortifications. First comes the Franco-Hispano-Italian alliance, which has fallen thro', not a word is now spoken of it. Followed by the cries of Eh Lambert, during his visit to France the husband of the Queen of Spain said to himself that this Lambert might be a fleticious name for revolution and that it would not be prudent to become the ally of a country possessing such revolutionary ideas as ours. On his return to Madrid he shook hands with Mesers. Dion and Pacheco the reactionary ministers, crossed the hand of Sister Patrocino, who rules the mind of the Queen of Spain, and there was an end of the matter. Once more, we are without an ally. But the Cabinet of the Tuileries is not easily discouraged. It desires allies, and you may sure it will find them. When one has 500,000 bayonets at one's disposition, friends are not wanting. For the moment it merely reflects and looks on, at passing events. Let us imitate it and placing ourselves at the window see the panerama (at one and the same time so tragical and so comical) of political Comedy, pass by. Yesterday, friends, as Castor and Pollux as Bertrand and Robert Macairo, Prussia and Austrie mistrust each other to-day. During the inror Francis Joseph, M. de Bismark arged to terminate the offeir, exposed too openly the cards in his hand, he plainly put the question, and asked Austria to allow him to increase his possessions in the North, promising in exchange to guarantee the possession of Venice and Hungary. Austria driven in a corner, refused, and at the time declared she would never sign the Franco-Prussian treaty of commerce. She took fright at the rapacity of her rival and endeavoured to show her teeth in her horn. The war with Denmerk may certainly break out again. The king Christian without much difficulty, consent to abandon Slesthe financial question. He will not pay the expenses of the war, or the part of Denmark in the public debt of the Duchies, and as the Austro-Prussians insist, he threatens them with breaking up the preliminaries of the peace conference. What then did M. Bismark do P. He sent tho Jeneral de Roon, Minister of war to the Camp of Chalons, the bearer of a letter from the King William to Napoleon III. The Times n a leader of today says". It is only just to say that the "Americans appear to be now turning such knowledge as they have acquired through the war to account. With extraordinary unanimity the North has caught at the scheme of an armistice and a Convention of all the states of the late Union. This would be to recognize the · South as holding a very different position from that of a Rebel. It would concode to the South a position of equality and substitute for the dominion of brute force the influence of justice and equity. The same causes which have made the nation suxious to enspend the war would then plend powerfully against its renewal and the difficulty of conceding to the South rights adverse to the claims of the North once got over "we must trust that the principles of the Declara-"tion of Independence will be found sufficiently comprehensive to do the rest.

PENINSULAR & OBJENTAL STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY: NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASS-AGE MONEY

IN the your 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates Apply to Messis. Gappe & Co., opposite the Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861 In that year, owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Preight of Coals, and the enhanced. price of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compolled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them to reduce the Company's Passago rates to the undernoted scale, which wil take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz:-

From Hongkong to :--Sucz Marseilles. Gibraltor. Southampton, Reserved Rates for Single Persons. Marseilles. 1.060Gibraltar. 1,100 Southampton. Reserved Rates for Married Couples.

FRENCH BUND. Captains & Commercial Gentlemen Accommodated with Board & Lodging

-but the Germans are a somewhat over-cautious people in business, and their fears for the unsoundness of our trade are just now extravagant. No doubt there are unsound bills about, and the failure of any large bank might be a great disaster. But on the whole the business of England has been good and profitable for some time past. But if a high rate of discount fails in bringing us money from the Continent, and has to operate on the money market by the painful and cumbrous process of raising general prices, and so discouraging imports and encouraging exports, -- no doubt much suffering must precede an effectual ours. The American news of the week is not unimportant. General Grant's position on the Wolden Railroad is solidly established and fortified, and his cavalry is proceeding thence to destroy the Danville Bailroad, the only other Southern road of communication with Richmond. The Times calls these "anintelligible operations," but they are intelligible enough to the inhabitants of Richmond, whose organs are in considerable alarm on the subject. Their supplies come entirely from the South, and obtained on application to can come only thence, and if these railroads ar. once firmly held it would probably cause the evacuation of Petersburg and Richmond, It is the great expedition up the Shenandonh Valley which has so drained the army of General Lec as to conder the bloody opposition offered by the Confederates to this movement ineffectual, though the loss | House. on both sides was equal to that of a great engagement. From Atlanta there is no fresh news, except that, on the taking of a line of rifle pite by General Sharman's army, two hundred Confederates deserted and came over to the Federals under the fire of their comrades. In Mobile, Fort Morgan had been invested. but was resisting stoutly. The invasion of Maryland by General Early, who is said to be supported by General Lee in person with | Splendid Rooms. a heavy detachment from the garrisons of Richmond and Petersburg, had not yet begun. The Federal General Sheridan with a very considerable army held the fords of the Potomac at the last advices, and it would require more than 30,000 or 40,000 men to cross in his face.

The latest news of the Chicago meeting of Demoorate, which was to assemble on the 29th ult. renders the nomination of General M'Olellan as the Democratic candidate exceedingly likely. His latest speeches and manifestoes in the papers were strongly for the war and union, and even on the anti-slavery question, in which it is known that he is opposed to the policy of Mr. Lincoln he had been playing for doubtful votes by saying that it could not be denied that slavery was the cause of the war. The only substantial difference between his policy and that of the President is that he would bribe the South to return by guaranteeing them as much slavery—as much of the root of the quarrel-as is now left them, -in order we suppose, that the wor may spring up again as soon as it is ended. He also denounces the suspension of habeas corpus and the other " unconstitutional" acts of the Administration. It seems that the Northerners everywhere, -of all but the New England shade of politics, - are still all but indifferent to the slavery question as compared with the Union question. Our own able correspondent says as much for himself in another column, in a paragraph which we do not hesitate to pronounce. as unstatesmanlike as it seems to us unjust. It seems it takes more than four years of civil war to teach our Northern consins, as Mr. Lowell enys, " the bravery"

To b'lieve ez hard come weal, come wee, In freedom ez Jeff does in elavery. It is most unjust to say the negroes have done nothing for themselves when the black troops have in a hundred engagements. The Americans have never seriously believed in their declaration of independence, and they do not believe in it yet.

MAGENZIE, Esq. happy German, and the New York reporters write word how he used to start in his sleep on the voyage, and cry ! Hands !" The streetage passen gers, however, had been "favourably impressed" by him. The people in New York feared that the Victoria might fall a victim to the Confederate cruiser Tallahanssoo, as did the Adriatic belonging to the same line and owners; but there was no such e-cape in store for Maller. On the 24th of August the Victoria cutered the bay, and some excursionist, anxious, we suppose, to give Mulier a chance of jumping overboard, called out, " How are you Muller the murderer P' but without catching his ear. When the American police-officers bearded the Victoria and captured Muller he morely turned pale and denied the murder. Mr. Death identified him at once from amongst a considerable group as the man who had exchanged the chain in his shop, and packed up in his box was found Mr. Briggs' watch, and stranga to say, Mr. Briggs' hat also, with "Digance, hatter," inside. Muller said he had had the hat twelve months and the watch two years. He maintained his composure through his examination, which had not concluded when the last mail left. The cvidence is ample to commit him, and there can be no doubt that he will be handed over to the English officers of justice, and reappear in this country, to the great delight of our newspapers, probably by the next
